RAID BERLIN MIDNIGHT TO DAWN

Claims Spy Gave Nazis Bomb-Sight Data

ATTORNEY SAYS AGENTS TOLD ARMS SECRETS

Gives Dramatic Account of How German Ring Gathered Military Information.

TRIAL CONTINUES

Dismissal Motions Denied In New York; Prosecution Claims 100 Witnesses.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK — United States Attorney Harold M. Kennedy charged today at the trial of 16 persons accused as Nazi spies that one of them had given Germany details of the famed Norden bomb-sight.

The trial was resumed in Brooklyn federal court after a week-long recess. The defendants, with 17 others who have pleaded guilty, were charged with conspiracy to provide Germany with United States defense secrets.

Kennedy gave a long, dramatic account of how the defendants allegedly gathered important military information and turned it over to German authorities.

He said that one of the defendants, whom he did not name, had obtained specifications of the Norden bomb-sight, considered the most accurate in the world, and revealed the information to authorities in Germany in 1938.

Kennedy asserted that one of the defendants, Frederick J. Duquesne, had been a "spy for many years." He charged that Duquesne wrote the chemical warfare section of the war department asking for information as to how the United States would use various chemicals in event of war.

Kennedy said that Duquesne had said in his letter that the information would be "in good hands," even though at the time he was in the pay of the Germans.

Several motions for dismissal on the grounds of prejudice were denied and the trial continued after Kennedy had announced that he expected to present

Ashlander First Arrested On New Ohio Driving Law

First in the Mansfield area to be arrested for a traffic violation since the institution of the stricter state traffic code Friday, Robert Burns Waldo, Ashland, learned upon his arraignment today in municipal court that he will not be allowed to drive his car for the next 90 days.

Waldo was arrested on U. S. Route 42 between Ashland and Mansfield by state highway patrolmen on a speeding charge.

Patrolmen said Waldo was driving 85 miles an hour. The new traffic code increases the speed limit from 45 to 50 miles.

Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch fined the Ashland man $10 and costs after he had pleaded guilty to the speeding charge. The judge also revoked Waldo's driving license for the next 90 days.

After spending most of his life in hospitals, Carl Mason, 11, of Pembroke, Mass., is at last going to school, just like other boys. A fall in infancy caused tuberculosis of the spine. Six months ago he learned how to walk. He learned to write with his feet while flat on his back in the hospital.

RICHLAND HAS SAFE WEEK-END

But Mansfield Area Accounts For Two of Seven Deaths In Ohio Traffic.

The Mansfield area accounted for two of the seven week-end traffic deaths in Ohio as the toll dropped to the lowest mark in recent months, reports showed today.

Not a death or injury was reported in Richland county traffic, the two deaths in this area occurring in Ashland and Huron counties. Five young colored people were injured in a mishap just east of Hayesville in Ashland county.

The two traffic victims were Mrs. Edward L. Stitzline, 50, who was struck by a car Saturday night in front of her home northwest of Loudonville, and Jeanne Slagel, 6, of Garrett, Ind., who died at 9 a. m. today in Willard Municipal hospital of injuries she received Aug. 30 when she was struck by a car in Willard. The girl was Willard's first traffic fatality of the year.

Mrs. Stitzline, mother of nine children, was struck by a car driven by Harold Spring, 22, of Lucas, and thrown 70 feet. Ashland county authorities said his car then collided with two other automo-

OUST JEWS

Nazis Order Evacuation of Homes In 24 Hours.

BERLIN—(AP)—Hundreds of Jews in Hannover received notices today to evacuate their homes within 24 hours.

They were permitted to take only "the most necessary objects and furniture" and advised that the remainder of their property would be sold, the proceeds to be turned over to them "at a given time."

One reason cited for the action was said to have been a book written by "The Jew Kaufmann in New York" the book, it as alleged, demands sterilization of all Germans and employment of German soldiers as coolies in foreign lands.

(This deference apparently is to a book entitled "Germany Must Perish!" by Theodore N. Kaufman, published by the Argyle Press of Newark, N. J.

Whole Nation Joins Roosevelt In Mourning at Death of His Mother

Woman Who Thrice Saw Her Son Inaugurated President Dies of Advanced Age.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—The president's mother is dead; and a nation joined its chief executive in mourning today.

Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, who thrice saw her only son inaugurated as president of the United States, died yesterday at the rambling old house which has been the Roosevelt family home for three quarters of a century. She would have been 87 years old on Sept. 21.

Her death, attributed largely to her advanced years, resulted in the postponement from tonight until Thursday night (at 9 p. m. EST) of a presidential radio address which the White House said would be of "major importance."

From the Franklin D. Roosevelt library, some 200 yards from the family home, the Stars and Stripes flew at half staff.

From lowly citizens and from many highly placed in the life of the nation, came messages of sympathy for the president. Telegraph offices were flooded, and special wires were set up to handle them.

From late Saturday night on, President Roosevelt and the first lady kept a sorrowful watch by the bedside of his mother. They were with her when the end came shortly after noon yesterday.

So was the family physician, Dr. Scott L. Smith, who said the mother of the chief executive had had "an acute circulatory collapse, due principally to her advanced age."

She had been in a coma for twelve hours.

The funeral, limited to relatives and to old friends, will be held at the family residence tomorrow.

Mrs. Roosevelt will be buried in the family lot in the churchyard of picturesque St. James Episcopal church, where under a canopy of aged oaks and elms, is buried the president's father.

The chief executive was only 18 when his father, James Roosevelt, died in 1900, and he

'Out In Open' Bingo Game Told to Move

Mayor Says Gambling To Be Banned On City's Main Streets 'Whenever It Was Seen'; Tells of Complaints.

A West Fourth street bingo game had been moved today because it was operated on the ground floor, and Mayor William J. Locke announced that all bingo games—which he pointed out were illegal—would be stopped if they could be seen.

Under orders from the mayor, Police Chief Meade K. Bates asked Mrs. Vera Shaw, operator of a game in the Fourth Street Market building, to stop running bingo sessions there and to move them off the ground floor.

Locke said that gambling was not to be allowed on the city's main streets and that it would be prohibited "whenever it was seen."

"We are going to stop all gambling which can be seen in the city," said the mayor.

"After all, it's illegal," declared Locke.

Bates, however, said that the mayor had asked him to stop the bingo at the Fourth street market after several complaints had been made by persons passing through to a restaurant in the rear.

When asked if bingo games were not illegal, Bates replied, "Of course they're illegal but churches, lodges and everyone maintains the games."

No action was taken against Mrs. Shull. It was learned she had moved her game to a Third street address, but she could not be reached for comment.

AUDIENCE SET

Emperor To Receive Council, Statement Expected.

TOKYO —(U.P.)— Emperor Hirohito, it was revealed today, will receive a member of the privy council Wednesday and following the audience it was understood that Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye will make an important public announcement.

There was no indication as to the nature of the announcement which Konoye is expected to make but such statements often concern governmental changes.

Recently there have been strong efforts by nationalist organizations in Japan to force the cabinet to take an unyielding stand against the United States and Britain in the Pacific and to oppose vigorously the shipment of American war supplies to Vladivostok for the Red army.

The bolt damaged the steeple of the church and stopped the ringing of all but one of the Angelus bells.

WAIT IN LINE FOR LICENSES

Richland Motorists Jam Auto Club Offices on Opening of Driver Permit Sale.

An hour after the Richland County Auto club opened its doors this morning, waiting lines formed for the issuance of 1942 drivers' licenses which went on sale this morning to holders of 1941 permits, and to those having successfully passed a test required of all new drivers.

First Richland county license was bought by John Catlett, Richland county representative to the general assembly.

Catlett sponsored and was a co-signer of Ohio's new law providing that licenses shall be issued only to holders of Ohio drivers' licenses for the preceding year, or to those who have passed successfully a state examination.

More than 21,000 applications are expected from Richland county motorists this year. A total of 21,300 applications were handled last year.

A steady stream of motorists kept a small staff of clerks busy all morning as applications were received, and licenses were issued. The office was filled, but latecomers didn't seem to mind waiting their turn.

Ashland County Couple Burned As Fire Sweeps Home

ASHLAND—An Ashland county farmer and his wife were in Samaritan hospital here today with severe burns sustained in a fire which destroyed their Milton township home yesterday.

Hospital attendants said the victims were Glenn Cobler, 60, and his wife, 62. Condition of both were described as "fair" at noon today.

Firemen said Cobler was burned when he attempted to toss a kerosene stove from the kitchen of his home after the appliance had caught fire. His wife sustained burns about the arms and face when she helped to smother her husband's burning clothing.

The aged couple was taken to the hospital by Thomas Wharton, a neighbor, who went to the rescue when he observed the house in flames.

Ashland firemen were called by Mrs. Cobler, but the fire was beyond control by the time they arrived. Part of the household goods was saved by neighbors.

MAYOR SEEKS 130 MORE CITY PARK METERS

Proposes Two-Hour Parking Limit on Mulberry and Second Streets.

CONTACTS COMMITTEE

Opens Way For Consideration By Council; 414 Devices Are Now In Use.

Addition of approximately 130 more parking meters to Mansfield's system to allow shoppers and other motorists two hours rather than only one for parking on two streets will be asked of city council by Mayor William J. Locke.

The mayor announced today that he had written the traffic committee of council requesting the installation of the two-hour meters on Mulberry and Second streets.

The new meters would provide two hours parking time for ten cents. The 414 now in use allow 60 minutes parking for a nickel and 12 for each penny deposited.

Locke said that many motorists have been given tickets for parking violations when they have been unable to return within the hour allowed them.

"In some cases they arrived only a minute or so after the violation sign flashed on the meter," declared the mayor." Several persons would gladly pay ten cents so that they can see a movie or go shopping without worrying about getting traffic tickets."

In his letter to the traffic committee, the mayor suggested that two-hour meters be placed on Mulberry street from Temple court to West Second street and on Second street from Mulberry to Main.

Since the parking meters have been operated, $32,254.07 has been collected in parking fees. The meters were installed last October and were used on a trial basis until last month when council accepted them and paid a final installment for their purchase.

The present meters were bought at a charge of $19.50 each, with monthly payments being made from the meter receipts.

British Planes Set Fires In Reich Capital

Berlin Admits Casualties As RAF Tops Week of Forays With Moonlight Blasting of Vital Points In Germany, Norway; Reds Battle.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—The air ministry said today that 20 British bombers were missing from last night's raid on Berlin.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—British planes bombed a moonlit Berlin from midnight to almost dawn this morning in a raid described officially as the heaviest ever made on the capital of the Reich.

The air ministry news service said the attackers found the lakes to the west of Berlin shining in bright moonlight.

"We could see the place like a map," said one flight sergeant. "Soon there were many fires, with one in particular blazing large and fierce in the heart of the city as a further guide to bombers."

The Berlin attackers were but part of the hundreds of planes striking regularly at the continent.

(Berlin acknowledged that 27 inhabitants were killed and that casualties may be even higher.)

The forays, highlighting a week-end of RAF attacks on a front ranging from Norway to France, were said to have been carried out in bright moonlight and good results were reported observed everywhere.

Besides the attack on Berlin—the fourth by either British or Russian planes in a little more than a week—the offensive was aimed at Bergso island off Norway, the German naval base at Kiel, the Rhineland industrial town of Huls and the French-occupied port of Boulogne.

Most spectacular of the attacks was the one on Boulogne begun last midnight and carried through to dawn. The sky over the French port reddened as the RAF carted more and more explosives across Dover strait to dump into raging fires. Watchers on the Kent coast today reported the fires still were burning.

The service said United States-built night fighters took part in last night's offensive, raiding air bases from the Netherlands to Brittany. Fires left at one base in northern France could be seen 25 miles away, the service reported.

The British said they lost three fighters in yesterday's offensive and eight bombers from operations Saturday night.

Two Blenheims were reported missing after a daylight patrol over northern waters. In that

GERMANS CALL FDR 'GANGSTER'

Nazi Press Says President Distorted Greer Story For Political Ends.

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—The implied accusation that President Roosevelt for political purposes distorted the version of the commander of the destroyer Greer of his encounter with a Nazi U-boat was made today by a Wilhelmstrasse spokesman.

This new twist was given to the dispute over the encounter off Iceland as the Nazi press and radio shrilled to a new all-time high in furious attack on President Roosevelt, calling him everything from a "gangster" to the "malicious liar of the Greer case."

The Wilhelmstrasse spokesman sharply rejected the American version of the Greer incident, insisting on the absolute accuracy of the Nazi explanation.

"The German version is absolutely clear cut," he declared. "It needs no further explanation since it consists of an unvarnished service report received from the U-boat commander concerned. It will be noted that he emphasizes AAA Head Says Station Closing Fails To Aid Shortage.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The present night curfew on gasoline filling stations has failed to ease the petroleum shortage and is not in the public interest, the special senate committee investigating the oil situation was told today by Russell E. Singer, general manager of the American Automobile Association.

Reopening of the gasoline stations at night was one of five recommendations made to the committee by Singer.

He also advocated that the committee recognize that the passenger automobile is no longer a pleasure vehicle but an important utility of the home, office and factory; that the senate group use its influence to prevent gasoline price increases; and that the committee recognize that automobile travel has become an integral part of the nation's economic and social system.

Westinghouse Distributors To Study Production Problem

Faced with government curtailment of production of home appliances to leave more materials for defense needs, approximately 100 Westinghouse merchandising distributors from all sections of the nation were arriving in Mansfield today for a conference Tuesday at the Westinghouse plant.

B. W. Clark, company vice president in charge of merchandising, said the meeting was "made necessary by changed conditions due to the defense program."

"We are faced daily with new problems of obtaining materials which together with possible curtailment programs will reduce the quantity of household goods which can be manufactured," Clark said.

"The effects of the defense program on consumer durable goods such as electrical appliances will be felt not only by the factories but also by our large group of distributors and dealers.

"We wish to explain these things to our distributors and to make plans for our business in the coming year insofar as they can be projected."

Clark and Kohnstamm, merchandising division sales manager, will be in charge of the meeting. Department heads will discuss their particular problems and their talks will be followed by round-table discussion. The sessions will be in the Westinghouse auditorium. The day's program will conclude with a dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Meanwhile, the federal government today inaugurated its program reducing the number of models of household articles in or-

Five Richland Districts Ask Vote On Special Tax Issues

Five Richland county villages and school districts had asked the county board of elections today for authority to vote on special tax levies and issues at the November election.

At least two other districts indicated to County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe that they will seek voting authority on special issues before the Sept. 15 deadline for filing applications.

The Madison township and Cass village school districts had filed their requests today for permission to vote on school operating levies in November. The Madison district will propose a three-mill levy and the Cass township school board will ask for approval of a two-mill levy for five years.

A three-mill levy for three years to provide operating funds will be submitted to the voters in Bellville by the village council. If approved by voters, the levy would be collected on the 1941-42-43 tax duplicates.

The Bellville and Butler village boards of education asked the election board for authority to vote on the proposed centralization of their districts. Under the centralization plan, the district would become a more compact unit, making it difficult for property owners to withdraw by petition. The Madison township district voted centralization several months ago.

Deputy County Auditor Arthur S. Beck said the village of Lucas probably will vote on an $18,000 bond issue for water works improvements and the Union Rural school district may seek a vote on an operating levy.

GEN. JOHNSON: Study Forced-Savings for Wage Earners

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—There has been so much dispute and argument about the authority given either to SPAB (the 1941 war industries board) or to its chairman or executive as compared with the authority of the 1918 board and that given to B. M. Brauch that it might be interesting to see just what authority the old board did have. I quote from Mr. Baruch's final report, as chairman of that board as reprinted in his recent book, "American Industry In the War," P. 27:

Johnson

"No legislation was ever passed making specific provision for the establishment of the war industries board. Its powers still depended in large measure upon its ability to demonstrate its effectiveness in accomplishing the common purpose and the willingness of other agencies to be assisted by it, together with the voluntary support of the business interests of the country. Several times, during the summer of 1918, bills giving the board larger legal powers were prepared and discussed by committees of congress, but the general conclusion was that the board was accomplishing its purpose well enough without further legislative powers . . ."

Mr. Baruch's personal authority was expressed in no executive order, much less in any statute. It was stated in a presidential letter, dated March 4, 1918. Just listen to it:

"My dear Mr. Baruch: I am writing to ask if you will not accept appointment as chairman of the war industries board and I am going to take the liberty at the same time of outlining the functions, the constitution and action of the board as I think they should now be established."

After directing action on new facilities and supplies and conversion of old ones, conservation, advice to purchasing agencies on price, determination of priorities and purchasing for the allies, the letter did say:

"The ultimate decision of all questions, except the determination of prices, should rest always with the chairman, the other members acting in a co-operative advisory capacity."

The duties of the chairman were outlined as a kind of umpire between conflicting interests and an advisor with a caution "to let alone what is being successfully done and interfere as little as possible with the present normal processes of purchase and delivery . . . To anticipate the prospective needs of the several supply departments of the government and their feasible adjustment to the industry of the country as far in advance as possible, in order that as definite an outlook and opportunity for planning as possible may be afforded the business men of the country. In brief he should act as the general eye of all supply departments in the field of industry. Cordially and sincerely yours, Woodrow Wilson."

No organization chart, no imperial decree, not very much real authority and most of that of an indirect and rather hazy nature.

Just the same the job was done. It was done so well because of two elements. One was Mr. Baruch himself, the other was a general knowledge throughout Washington that when Woodrow Wilson gave a man a job he backed him and that there were no side entrances to the White House for disloyalties, sniping or personal fenagling.

That is the missing spark-plug today. That is all our stalled engine needs to speed it to dynamic and irresistable action.

WICKARD ASKS FOR GREATEST FARM OUTPUT

Raises Production Goals To Meet Needs of U. S. and Foes of Axis.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Wickard announced today a 1942 farm program calling for "the largest production in the history of American agriculture" to meet the expanding food needs of this country and nations resisting the Axis.

Production goals set up under the program call for the largest output in history of such vitamin and mineral-rich products as Pork, eggs, evaporated milk, dry skim milk, cheese, poultry, vegetables, and such edible-oil producing crops as peanuts and soybeans.

Although providing for bigger crops in many products, the 1942 program continues rigid production and marketing controls for commodities of which there are large reserves, namely cotton, wheat and tobacco.

The sharply-expanded food production program is based, Wickard said, on a "thorough canvass of the needs for improved nutrition in this country and the needs of the nations that still stand between this country and Hitler."

Prospects point, the secretary said, to a new boom in agricultural exports, particularly of such commodities as dairy and poultry products, pork, lard, fats, and processed fruits and vegetables. Britain alone, he said, is expected to need from 6 to 8 per cent of total American farm production. Other exports are expected to require an additional 2 per cent.

This volume of exports would be double those of the current year.

Some idea as to the scope of the new program may be obtained by comparing the 1942 production goals of major food commodities with the estimated 1941 production and the average for the past five years. Milk production would be stepped up from a five-year average of 106,640,000,000 pounds and the 1941 output of 116,809,000,000 to 125,000,000,000 pounds.

Hogs slaughtered would be increased from 71,000,000 head this year to 79,300,000. The five-year average was 63,196,000. Egg production would be raised from 3,400,000,000 dozen for the five-year average and 3,676,000,000 this year to 4,000,000,000 next year.

The program also would lift all restrictions on production of sugar in this country. Rigid marketing quotas have been in effect since 1934. The department indicated it did not want to risk any possible shortage due to shipping troubles. Normally this country imports about two-thirds of its sugar.

Richland county registrants for military service who are over 28 years old and otherwise eligible for induction are going to get new classification numbers and letters. County draft boards said they would be listed as 1-H instead of 1-A or 1-B, indicating that they are merely deferred temporarily and may be subject to call in the event of a national emergency. The boards also reminded registrants that they must continue to carry their registration cards with them regardless of their classification. Failure to have a card will be construed by authorities as evidence of failure to register. Any police officer or draft official may ask a registrant to show his card at any time.

ECONOMISTS DRAFT PLANS FOR MEASURE

Consider Asking Congress To Enforce 'Lay-Aways' as Inflation Curb.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Federal economists today are studying a plan under which the government would force wage-earners of the nation to save a portion of their weekly salaries.

The plan has the two-fold objective of curbing current inflationary trends and to furnish workers with a lump sum whenever they lose their jobs.

Details of the plan are being drafted by treasury, federal reserve, social security and labor department experts, and congress may be asked to enact necessary legislation to put the program into operation.

The proposal may receive the formal blessing of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau tomorrow when he outlines his views on what the government must do to meet the threat of inflation. Morgenthau will discuss inflation in an address to the Advertising club of Boston.

The enforced-savings plan would be part of the social security program and would supplement the present system of unemployment insurance.

Under the proposal, workers each week would be required to give the government a prescribed percentage of their earnings. The government would return this money in a lump sum as soon as the worker becomes unemployed.

Economists explained that this enforced savings plan would reduce purchasing power, particularly in the field of luxury goods. This would have the effect of reducing the inflationary movement by reducing the demand for luxury items.

The plan also is aimed to revive consumer purchasing power when the emergency is over. It is explained that when the national defense program is concluded millions of workers probably will lose their jobs. Under the present social security system, those made idle would receive only the small weekly unemployment compensation benefits.

Government economists feel that if these workers received a substantial cash sum in addition to their regular unemployment benefits, higher standards of living could be maintained.

DIES, HENDERSON SQUABBLE OVER FIRING AIDS FOR 'COMMUNISM'

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Martin Dies and Leon Henderson locked horns today over the question of whether the boss of the office of price administration and four aides should be fired from the government service on the ground that they held or condoned communistic views.

Dies, house member from Texas and chairman of the committee on unamerican activities, made public yesterday a letter to President Roosevelt urging that Henderson and the four employes be dismissed immediately.

To this Henderson promptly replied that he would turn the accusations over to the civil service commission, and if the commission held the employes to be unfit he would discharge them as soon as he could get to a telephone. He added, however, that "summary punitive action on the basis of one man's opinion is an unamerican a procedure as anything to which Mr. Dies has yet given his attention."

To Dies contention that Henderson himself once had connections with Communist "front organizations or transmission belts," the price administrator declared at a press conference yesterday that he was not now and never had been a member of any Communist-controlled organization.

In the letter to the president, Dies declared that four employes of the office of price administrator had at one time or another expressed Communistic views.

Last month Henderson remarked at a house banking committee hearing that Dies was not a "responsible member of congress," adding that he would not "fire anyone because Martin Dies or anyone else highly or lowly placed casts reflections on him."

Strikers Greet Lorain Workers With Boos, Jeers

LORAIN—(UP)—Boos and jeers of 550 striking members of the United Marine and Shipbuilding Workers' union (CIO) greeted approximately 200 American Federation of Labor workmen who entered the American Shipbuilding company yards today.

Strikers massed outside the plant, which was picketed by 10 men at the one entrance to the company yards. Some scuffling was reported but there were no serious disturbances.

Police Chief Theodore Walker said, "Everyone who wanted in, got in."

No effort was made to enforce an injunction issued in Lorain county common pleas court at Elyria Saturday. The order limited the number of active pickets to six.

The strike was called Thursday by the CIO union to protest a national labor relations board ruling that gave the AFL bargaining rights in the six company shipyards. The CIO contends that it has a majority of the 1,100 workers at Lorain.

The company has $10,000,000 worth of defense contracts and an equal amount in private orders.

BRITISH BOMB BERLIN, FIRES ARE STARTED

RAF Climaxes Week of Forays With Midnight To Dawn Attack on Capital.

operation the Blenheims were credited with firing a supply ship and blowing up its escort vessel.

Nazi Press Assails British Air Raids

BERLIN—(AP)—An early morning British air raid in which at least 27 inhabitants of Berlin were killed was played up under two-column headlines today and one newspaper, the Nachtausgabe, bitterly assailed the attack as "especially low-down and contemptible."

Obviously with the permission of authorities, the press went beyond the customary mere publication of the high command communique. At least a column was given to description of the attack (which the British said lasted from midnight almost to dawn and was the heaviest RAF blow on Berlin so far).

Emphasis, however, was on "the exemplary discipline of civilians" and the care given victims.

Besides 27 dead announced by informed sources, a number of others were injured and fear was expressed that the number of dead might increase.

Of 17 British planes downed during the night, three were said to have been bagged over Berlin.

"Explosives and incendiaries were dropped by the British aviators on residential sections where, almost exclusively, workers' families live," said the Nachtausgabe. "The dead and wounded among them, the old people, women and children, are lamenting victims of a species of warfare which shrinks back at no crime, no murder."

The newspaper asserted that the British failed to terrorize the population, which it said was the raiders' objective.

Reds Claim Capture Of Nazi Headquarters

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Red army, lashing back with fierce counter-attacks before Leningrad and on the central front, reported today that hard-riding Cossacks had captured a staff headquarters far behind the German lines and listed a general among mounting Nazi casualties.

At one point, the noon communique said, a sharp attack routed an entire German battalion, which left 1,200 men on the battlefield.

The communique did not identify the German general who was reported killed.

Despite adverse weather conditions particularly in the north, the bulletin declared that the entire front from the Baltic to the Black sea remained active.

In some of the fiercest fighting of the war, now in its 12th week, Soviet troops were reported to have driven the invading Germans from positions astride a vital highway leading to Leningrad.

Dive-Bombers Used Against Leningrad

BERLIN—(AP)—German dive-bombers by the hundreds have been loosed against Leningrad's defenses in an effort to smash stubborn resistance encountered by Nazi land forces on the rain-soaked northern battlefront, German reports said today.

The newly-unleased aerial operations, as reported by DNB, were described in the German press as one gigantic and unending "rolling attack."

The news agency has not yet reported luftwaffe attacks upon the heart of Russia's second city itself, but rather described them as directed at red army troops "south of Lake Ladoga."

In that area important Leningrad-Moscow rail connections are located and the entire area is considered here to be a part of Leningrad's defense belt.

Sub Surrenders After Plane Attack

LONDON — (UP) — A German submarine, severely damaged by bombs from an American-built Lockheed plane, surrendered in the Atlantic yesterday and has been brought into a British harbor, the admiralty announced today.

British warships, summoned to the scene, towed the damaged U-boat into port, a communique said.

A Lockheed ED-14B bomber, called Hudson by the British, spotted the submarine during a full gale. Badly damaged in the attack, the U-boat was forced to the surface and surrendered.

Maneuvers Are Amusing: 4.—

Morale? Army Needs Objective

By JOHN GROVER
(AP Feature Service Writer)

NATCHEZ, Miss.—Cock an ear carefully when buck privates talk if you want to get the lowdown on this morale business.

On the motorized march from Florida to Louisiana I listen plenty when the boys are "beating their gums together." (Army for shooting the breeze).

Some swear they heard the outfit's going through to the west coast to relieve a regular outfit for Asiatic duty. Others say it's straight dope that they'll be recalled for Caribbean service.

What's behind these rumors? Wishful thinking. These young men want to feel that what they're doing is vital, not playing cops and robbers. Officers say the root of the morale problem is this country's ambiguous position—neither in nor out of the war.

National confusion obviously confuses the soldiers. The vast majority left good jobs on induction. They want to know where they're going. Uncertainty isn't so good.

From listening, you also get the idea they'd sometimes like a ration of barbecued congressman, served with a rasher of senators' ears. Isolationists and interventionists are both damned as political phoneys.

To prove it, they show you pictures of bitter political enemies grinning and shaking hands after a momentous vote on foreign policy.

"What the hell? You'd think it was a tennis match!" is typical comment.

Shortages of equipment raise another important gripe. The boys tell you by the hour of materiel shortages. They're tickled almost pathetically when they do get modern arms. While I was along, word came that an anti-tank battalion would get an issue of 37-mm. guns. You'd have thought it was Christmas. Those kids had been training nine months. Not one had ever seen an AT gun.

The guys in ranks don't analyze reasons for shortages. They see powerful weapons in rotogravure sections. They want 'em. They'll be dissatisfied—with reason—until they get 'em. They say so.

Minor beefs: low-paid enlisted men still must pay for their laundry; sailors aboard ship don't pay federal tax on cigarettes—soldiers do; sailors are generally higher paid than soldiers; and they think FDR babies the navy.

There's a brighter side. Pride in the outfit is pretty general. "My platoon can outmarch, outfight, outshoot and outlove your bunch of farmers," is a common attitude. It's a healthy sign.

Here's an example: In June, the 62nd brigade made a practice march to Ocala, Fla.—120 miles on foot. On return, three miles from camp, they flabbergasted their officers by asking to march into camp in parade formation, instead of easier, sloppier route step. It was their own idea.

Why? They're part of the Dixie division. The Yankee division, from New England, is quartered next door The Yanks had razzed the 62nd, said they "couldn't take it" on the long march. They wanted to "show" the Yankees they could finish full of beans. They swept up the camp street cocky and proud and chip-on-shoulder.

"Morale? Hell, they were busting with it," says Brig. Gen. J. C. Hutchison (You get the idea he's near to popping, he's so proud of them.)

Sum it all up: There IS some dissatisfaction Analyze the beefs, and they're mostly legitimate. Don't blame the army for it. If the whole country isn't sure of where it's going, how can the army tell?

GERMANS CALL FDR 'GANGSTER'

Nazi Press Says President Distorted Greer Story For Political Ends.

that he did not fire the torpedoes until two hours after the Greer began to attack and pursue him.

"On the other hand, it is questionable whether the original report of the Greer commander was given to the public, or whether it was altered to suit President Roosevelt's political needs.

"It is our repeated experience that the facts bearing on such incidents in the past have always been twisted in America to create the impression there that Germany was seeking trouble with the United States. The fact is that we are doing the exact contrary We have no desire or reason to seek trouble."

The government spokesman did not reveal whether Germany would protest to Washington on the basis of its stand that the American war vessel was the aggressor. But, it was made quite clear, that any protest from Washington would be sharply rejected as not bearing out the true facts.

Meantime, the afternoon newspapers launched the most violent attack on Roosevelt which even they have ever published. The keynote of bitter articles in all the papers was that the president was unscrupulously agitating to precipitate the United States into war.

der to release more machines and materials for defense production, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

The order will apply specifically to makers of electric refrigerators, washers, electric irons, and other home appliances and would affect the Westinghouse, Ideal Electric and Dominion Electric firms in Mansfield.

The program calling for simplification of refrigerators and other appliances will soon be extended to other lines of consumer goods, officials of the consumer division of the federal price administration said.

CRASHES RISE

17 Per Cent Increase In Traffic Accidents Blamed on Worry.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Auto accidents have increased at least 17 per cent during the current year, and indications are that an all-time fatality high of 40,000 will be reached, the national safety council disclosed today.

The large increase in highway crashes was attributed by the council to psychological reasons. Worried over the war, and preoccupied by personal problems, Americans were described as seeking escape in speed, taverns, and recklessness.

BUC Heads Says Ohio Plants To Call For 31,000 Men.

COLUMBUS, O.— (UP) —Administrator H. C. Atkinson of the state bureau of unemployment compensation said today that approximately 31,000 additional workers would be needed by nearly 1,400 selected defense employers in Ohio during the last four months of 1941.

Atkinson estimated that lay-offs during the same period would total approximately 2,000 in defense industries. He said lay-offs caused by the scarcity of raw materials or priorities in non-defense plants could not be estimated.

and his mother have been exceptionally close Her home has been his home all his life.

Proudly she had seen her son inaugurated as the only three-term president of the United States. Yet she had never quite approved of politics as a career for him. To her, he was more "my boy, Franklin," than "the president."

The matriarch of Hyde Park house was supposed to have been one individual who subdued the vociferous Huey Long, the late senator and "kingfish," from Louisiana, at a dinner party.

Other guests said he had monopolized the conversation, expounding his ideas of government and passing alone advice to the president, until Mrs. Roosevelt turned to a neighbor and said in a stage whisper:

"There was only one reason why I didn't want Franklin to go into politics. He has to deal with such peculiar people."

She had taken in stride such historic events as the visit in June, 1939, of King George and Queen Elizabeth of England. And she was not hesitant to interrupt her son, even when he was conferring with a distinguished personage in his cluttered study, if she wanted to know what he desired for lunch.

But then, Sara Delano had some royal blood, as a descendant of the Prince of Seyrri of France and of the Delanos, who originally spelled the name De Lannoy.

Mrs. Roosevelt was educated by governesses at her girlhood home in Newburg, N. Y., and in France and Germany. In 1880, when she was 26, she was married to James Roosevelt, a lawyer with rail and financial interests, who was exactly twice her age. Six years later he bought Hyde Park house, high above the Hudson, whose original portion was begun in 1748.

There in her second-floor bedroom, overlooking the Albany post road and a segment of a 1,200-acre estate, Mrs. Roosevelt died.

For a person of her age, Mrs. Roosevelt had been in exceptionally good health, although several years ago she broke a hip in a fall and had used a cane since then. Her last previous illness was on April 29, 1940, when she suffered an upset stomach in New York City.

Only a week ago she had returned from her summer home at Campobello, New Brunswick. She had not been feeling well and her condition became worse Friday night and critical some 24 hours later. The president arrived from Washington Saturday morning and had a final long visit with his mother.

FDR Postpones 'Important' Talk

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(UP)—Because of the death of his mother, President Roosevelt's "important" address to the American public and the world on foreign policy has been postponed until Thursday night.

In announcing the postponement, the temporary White House offices gave no hint of the subject matter, but reiterated that it would be of "major importance," directed not at the United States alone but at the whole world.

Mr. Roosevelt will speak from the White House in Washington at 9 p. m (EST) over the three major networks. His speech will be translated into 14 languages, including German, for rebroadcast to all parts of the world. He is expected to speak for about 15 minutes.

Funeral services for Mrs. Stitzline will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Mt. Zion Lutheran church. Rev. J. H. Kuhlman will officiate. Burial will be in the Loudonville cemetery.

The Slagel child suffered a skull fracture when she ran into the street and was struck by a car driven by Harry Eckstein, janitor at Willard Municipal hospital.

The girl, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Slagel of Garrett, was visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kruger in Willard when she was injured. The body will be sent to Garrett today for funeral services and burial.

Three colored youths and two girls were injured, one seriously, at 8:30 p. m. Sunday when their car skidded off U. S. route 30 near Hayesville and crashed into a power line pole. Injured in the crash were R. W. Mapp, 19, Akron, Judy Saunders, 17, Wooster; Nellie Peck, 17, Wooster; Robert Lee Mapp, 21, Akron, and James Lomax, 18, Akron.

All of them, except Miss Peck, were admitted to Samaritan hospital, Ashland. Robert Mapp, most seriously injured, suffered a possible skull fracture. Miss Saunders received fractures of one arm and the others had cuts and bruises.

The other traffic deaths in Ohio included:

Canton—Robert F. Wilson, 61, by hit-skip motorist; Charles W. Benedict, 67, struck by automobile.

Hamilton—Eldon Tingley, 28, Cincinnati, of crash injuries.

A BAD ONE DOES TURN UP ONCE IN A WHILE!

Good weather and a bumper crop! Even then one finds a poor stalk once in a while.

The retailing of beer is something like that. Most beer retailers operate respectable law-abiding establishments. Occasionally one finds an exception—a man who tries to beat the law or who permits anti-social conditions.

The beer industry wants this type of undesirable retailer stamped out. Your cooperation will help us in our clean-up efforts.

The beer industry brings important benefits to the community. Here in Ohio, beer provides employment for 50,196 persons, supports an annual payroll of $46,441,543 and contributed $10,717,714 last year in state taxes.

Ohio, too, has an important stake in the beer industry's purchases—for materials, equipment, and services—from over 100 other industries.

You can help us protect these benefits in two ways. First—patronize only the reputable places where beer is sold. Second—report to the proper authorities any law violation you may observe.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1941

It takes some history, and much imagination, to understand present world conditions.

Another of the surprising things is how quickly next March 15—and income tax paying time—will roll around.

When you consider all the home-made remedies and all the new-fangled medical doctoring, it seems wonderful that the human race gets along as well as it does.

Advises Putting Gold To Work

A CANADIAN BANKER, W. Redelmeier, has published a book on "The Gold Standard" in which he maintains that the United States, now holding most of the world's gold, should take the lead in restoring that metal to general use. On both national and international grounds, he insists, it should be made again a real medium of exchange. The matter is of natural interest in this country, which has about 24 billions of gold locked up in the national treasury, while the rest of the nations have virtually gone off the gold basis.

He would link the democracies definitely with the gold standard, making that metal once more, as it was for a hundred generations, a part of civilized human life.

Gold still excites the imagination of men, he says, but its appeal lessens when contact is lost. It tends to lose its "imponderable value." It ceases to fulfill its purpose like the pictures of an art collection when the gallery is closed. People want to see and handle gold. And the way to restore this precious metal again to international use throughout the world is to "restore its value first in the greatest market that ever existed—in the hearts and minds of 130,000,000 Americans."

It seems likely that our government has accumulated all its gold, and now hoards it, with a view to restoration of world finance and economy when the war is over. The question presented by this book is whether we can, or should, wait that long.

Death of the President's Mother

AS PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT grieves over the death of his mother the entire nation joins in sympathy.

Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, better known in her later years as mother of the president of the United States, lived a long, full life, brightened in its declining years by realization of the outstanding achievements of a son upon whom her wholesome influence extended from infancy to manhood.

During the years of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's rise to state, national and world prominence his mother fitted quietly, and with becoming dignity and reserve, into her role, and thus won the admiration and respect of all who were privileged to know her.

First woman to experience the honor of having a son elected to the presidency of the United States a third time, and living to the near approach of her eighty-seventh birthday anniversary, Mrs. Roosevelt was privileged above the average in the blessings of life.

Her own family, the community in which she lived, and the entire nation benefits by such an exemplification of American motherhood.

No School Board Contest

ABSENCE of a contest in connection with electing three members of the Mansfield board of education in November gives the impression of being a quite satisfactory situation.

Election to membership on the board of education is quite definitely an instance in which "the office should seek the man"—and it usually does.

No salary is paid to members of the board of education and conscientious performance of duties require considerable time, in addition to business ability, interest in children and knowledge of school methods.

Endorsement by a committee of "interested parents" seems to carry sufficient approval of Walton O. Leedy as prospective successor to Dr. John S. Battery on the board, and as for Harold W. Arlin and Alvin H. Fankhauser, their past service has been such as to justify the confidence that will be expressed by re-election.

Widely Scattered Junk

A TRAVELER, returning from a vacation that took him through many miles of woods and sparsely settled country, expresses surprise at the amount of junk lying in spots apparently remote from human dwelling or industry. He saw a rusting stove here, bedsprings there, a large piece of machinery in another spot, and the demoralized and disintegrating automobiles more familiar in regular junk yards near cities.

Perhaps there is some reasonable explanation, he admits, but it certainly suggests that some people went far and worked hard to get rid of their old stuff. Individually these heaps are small and perhaps not worth much. Yet in a 2,000-mile trip the vacationer saw so many of them that he felt sure their total held value worth recapturing.

The next puzzle is how to round up the stuff economically and get it to the industrial centers where it is needed.

Drug Addicts Defrauded

AN ODD variation of the marijuana evil appeared in a New York courtroom the other day when an offender was arraigned for selling to drug addicts cigarets filled with catnip instead of the stuff that drives smokers crazy. An outsider might say that the seller was doing his customers a favor and, indeed, the judge seemed to lean toward that view, although he fined the prisoner for fraud.

It is strange, and rather alarming, how much of this perilous and furtive smoking there seems to be in some cities. The brain-poisoning weed is found to be only too common when victims once learn to identify it.

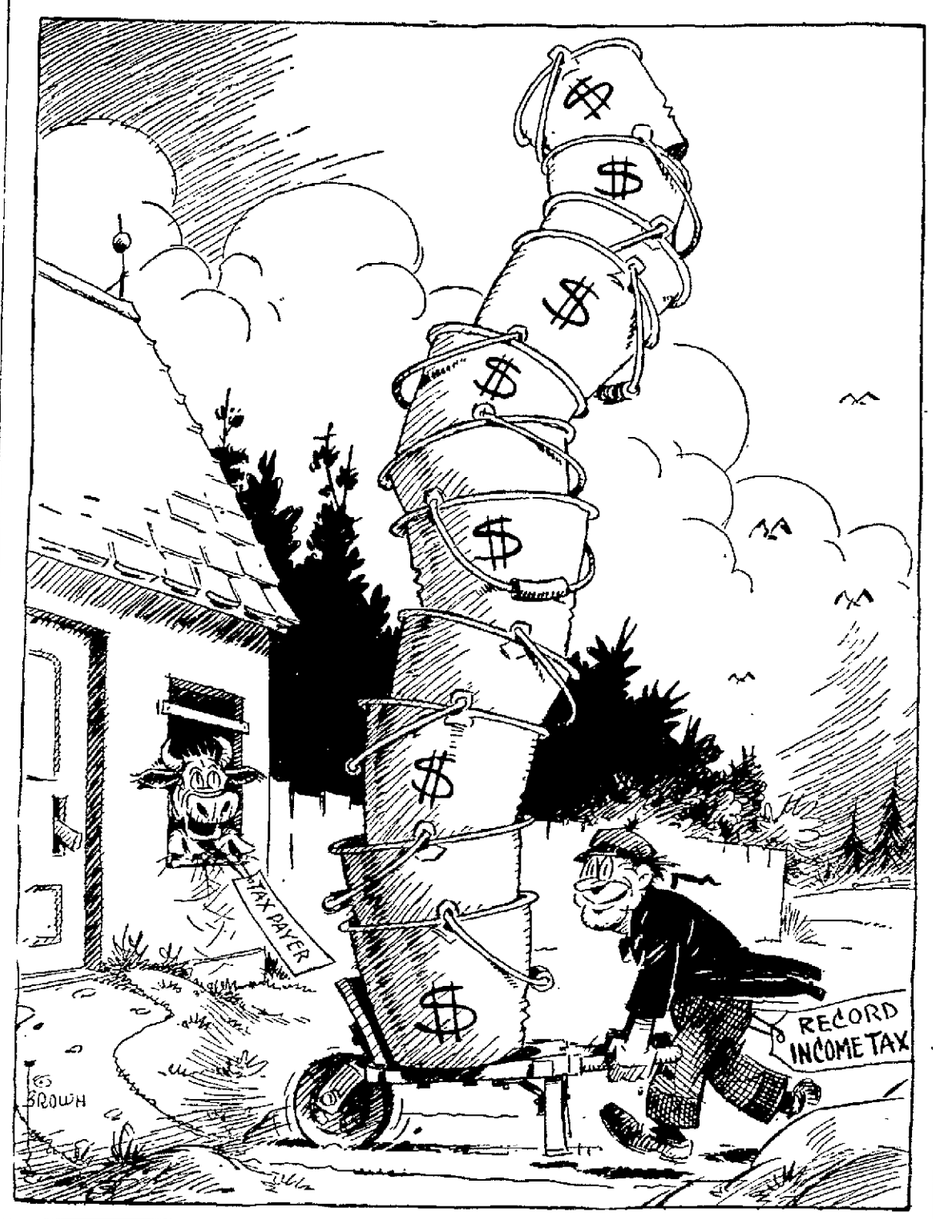
Foot Trouble Among Draftees

ACCORDING to the National Association of Chiropodists, most draftees suffer from ingrown toenails, corns or callouses. There are plenty of bunions and athlete's foot, too.

Most of such ailments obviously come from wearing shoes that are too tight or that don't fit in other ways. We should take care of our boys' and men's feet as well as we used to take care of horses' feet.

A similar report on women's feet would be interesting—but probably nothing could be done about them.

MILKING TIME IS GOING TO MEAN SOMETHING



Lack Confidence In SPAB Set-up

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt has not ended criticism of the national defense set-up by creating the new seven-man board. For the moment criticism has been stilled, but it is merely watchful waiting. There is the wish among his erstwhile critics that the new plan will work an improvement, but there is no conviction that it will even approach the one-man control plan which Woodrow Wilson found so successful after he appointed Bernard M. Baruch chairman of the war industries board.

"The present attitude of the critics," an old-timer said, "reminds me of what Senator John Kern, of Indiana, used to tell reporters, when he was Democratic leader of the senate while Wilson was president.

"The reporters would ask Kern if he hoped for an adjournment soon. Kern generally said: 'Hope is a combination of expectancy and desire. I have the desire, but not the expectancy.'"

OLD-TIMERS are also recalling a quip made by General George W. Goethals, famed builder of the Panama Canal, shortly after he was made chairman of the shipping board in the last war.

"All boards," said General Goethals, "are long, narrow and wooden."

General Goethals made a magnificent success when Theodore Roosevelt made him virtually czar in the Panama Canal job. He made what even he admitted privately was a flop when he headed the job of getting ships built fast in the first World war. The answer, he thought, was simple. On the Panama Canal job he had to consult no one after he had made up his mind. So action was swift. On the shipbuilding job he not only had to make up his mind on each problem that arose, but he had to argue with the other board members, not always with success.

It must be borne in mind that in the latest national defense board men have been included who, in the present emergency, already have developed views of such violent opposition that it was necessary for the president to have an outsider study the problem and submit a report so he could make a decision.

This report presumably was made after his New York legal friend made the study. What the report proposed no one knows. It was not made public whether it favored Leon Henderson of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply (OPACS), or William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman of the OPM.

But there is a great fear on the part of watchful critics that the sore has been poulticed with dressing that is more likely to make it fester than heal. One danger is that the board may become a debating society, with each of the belligerents trying to convince the other members that he is right and the other is wrong.

THERE is another cause for worry to those whose chief concern is to make the defense effort tell against Adolf Hitler. They had been confident, up to the creation of this board, that Knudsen was a sort of safety valve. They thought that by watching Knudsen, in whom they had great confidence, they could tell when the situation became too dreadful.

In short they thought that Knudsen would blow up and resign if he were balked too much on his job. They had thought, especially in the first few months of Knudsen's Washington experience, that F. D. R. simply could not afford to have Knudsen blow up and resign. So they hoped for the best.

Their first doubts came when they saw Knudsen coming out for this and that which they did not believe Knudsen really favored. They began to fear Knudsen had been taken into camp. Now they are afraid Goethal's shipping board fate awaits the Detroit motor maker.

The Wheat Question.

Editor News-Journal:

Organized opposition to the government's wheat program has swept over Ohio and other central states in recent weeks, and is steadily gaining ground. Some groups have already filed suits in the federal courts and others are preparing to do so. Funds to support this action have come from farmers taking membership in protective associations.

In order that your readers may better understand the issues involved in the new wheat acts (which deny the farmer the right to sell or to feed on his own farm to his own live stock, the wheat he has raised above his co-called quota, unless he pays the penalty of 49 cents per bushel), I wish to quote the following from a recent issue of the Pennsylvania Farmer:

"We hold that it is the right of any farmer to feed any wholesome product of his farm to any of his livestock regardless of the ultimate disposition of the animals or the products thereof. We hold that it is his right to sell any wholesome product of his acres and his labor without partial or entire confiscation by any agency of the federal government.

"We believe that since the farms and the commodities on them are not now in interstate commerce, and may never be, the federal government has no constitutional authority to impound the commodities or impose penalties on their use or sale or put liens on them.

"Still further, we believe that the federal government has no constitutional authority to discriminate in favor of farmers who have 15 acres of wheat or less and against those who have 16 acres or more. There are other constitutional questions that should be raised and will be, for some of the funds subscribed are to be devoted to the determination of them. No matter what is done about the present penalty, or any other detail of the program, all these vital questions must be settled."

Timely Editorial

Turn It On Hitler.

The bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor, which cannot be charged with any bias in such a matter, reports that in the first seven months of 1941 the loss of man-days because of labor disputes was five times more than what it was in the corresponding period of 1940. As defense activity increased the disputes increased, amounting to 2,505 this year compared with 1,403 in the 1940 period and to a total 1941 man-day loss of 15,730,000 compared with 3,091,000 last year.

We are not assuming to pass upon the rightness or wrongness of all these disputes with relation to one side or the other. We are saying that they are a grave reflection upon this country's defense effort. The present temporary decline in the strife may or may not be permanent. But it's high time to stop it for good. We are supposed to be fighting Hitler with our production. Fighting among ourselves doesn't help to win the battle.—Kansas City Star.

Secret Document In U. S. Hands Reveals Nazis Bleeding France

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The systematic looting of their victims is an old Nazi story, but the extent to which they are denuding France of its food and industries is graphically revealed in a secret document that has just come into the possession of U. S. authorities.

It consists of financial reports made by branch managers of the Bank of France in German occupied zones to M. De Boisanger, Vichy-appointed head of the bank. How the document got into U. S. hands is an intelligence secret.

One interesting fact reported by the branch managers is that Berlin agents appear well supplied with foreign currency, apparently appropriated from other conquered countries. What the Nazis can't buy with paper francs in their "New Order" of things, they pay for with "valuta" stolen from their victims.

By this, and other methods, according to the bank managers, the Nazis are systematically denuding occupied France of all cereals, eggs, milk, butter, cheese, fodder and livestock. Every known wine cellar has been drained dry and already over 20,000,000 bottles of champagne have been shipped to Germany. Also, the 1941 grape crop has been taken over in toto at prices fixed by the Nazis.

In the Paris area, according to the secret report, all heavy-goods industries have been seized by the Nazis, either through outright requisitioning or what amounts to the same thing, payment in Berlin-issued paper francs.

For example, ninety per cent of the former huge French cement industry was requisitioned by Nazi occupation authorities and the other ten per cent "bought" with Berlin francs, worthless printing-press money.

These seizures mean much to the Nazi war machine, for the Paris area is the principal industrial district of France and includes shipyards, metal and woodworking plants, arms, auto, cement, leather, varnish and paper factories, as well as practically the whole of the former French dye industry. This is now incorporated in what the secret report calls the "Franco-German Union." All the plants are working day and night producing goods for Germany.

This is true also of other occupied industrial centers, according to the French bank managers' reports. In Nantes, the heavy-goods industries are operating at record levels.

Note — The secret document also confirms the reports of growing unrest among the French populace and fury at Vichy, which is being blamed for the Nazi looting of supplies which the French themselves can't even buy with ration cards.

A Swell Guy.

ONE of the first things William H. Harrison, plain-talking, hard-working A. T. & T. vice-president, did when he succeeded John Biggers as OPM production chief was to summon a group of steel makers for some blunt talk about expansion plans. One of those attending the conference was short, hard-boiled Tom Girdler, anti-union boss of Republic Steel company.

The meeting lasted hours and no words were minced. The steel men spoke up and so did Harrison. At times the air was blue. But when it was all over, Girdler walked up to Harrison, extended his hand and said,

"Bill, I want to say this. You are the nicest tough ;!,.:;!*; I have ever met."

No Rail Strike.

THE overwhelming vote of the railroad workers came as no surprise to President Roosevelt.

A week before the count was announced he was tipped off about it by George Harrison, brainy Brotherhood chief, who called at the White House to present their case in the wage dispute with the carriers. Harrison assured the president that the unions stood ready to accept the award of the fact-finding board he will appoint to hear both sides.

This means there will be no strike, for under the mandatory "cooling off" period of the Railway Labor Act there can be no work stoppages for 30 days before or after a fact-finding board is named.

Harrison told the president that railway labor "had no alternative but to call a strike," but felt that the president should be advised beforehand of the Brotherhood's intention in view of the seriousness of the times.

"The revenues of all the big roads have shot up tremendously in the past year," Harrison declared, "yet they have refused to grant our wage increase proposals in the face of the fact that railroad workmen are getting anywhere from 30 to 100 per cent less than the wage levels of corresponding crafts in other industries."

The president listened quietly to the bill of grievances and then asked if he could depend on railway labor to cooperate with the government to the extent of accepting the settlement terms proposed by a fact-finding board. He pointed out that a tieup in transportation would be a crushing blow to the anti-Axis program.

"You can depend on the railroad unions to cooperate 100 per cent with you, Mr. President," Harrison replied emphatically.

Illiterate Draftees.

ONE of the uncomfortable facts disclosed by the selective service system is that thousands of young men in this great country of educational opportunity are unable to pass a simple test of reading and writing.

In a recent two-months' period, May 15 to July 15, a total of 91,919 draftees were "excused" on account of illiteracy. Of these, 37,217 were white, and 54,702 were Negro.

The southern states have the heaviest percentages of illiteracy. In Louisiana, 4.8 per cent of the whites and 23.7 of the Negroes were rejected on this score. In Georgia and Florida, the percentage was only slightly less. Other states of high illiteracy are Virginia, Mississippi and North Carolina.

Partly to offer the benefits of education, partly to increase the number of men fit for military service, WPA is setting up a project to teach reading and writing to the rejectees.

Watching Trends

—By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON — For months, here in Washington, there has been much talk about "dramatizing democracy." Heads have bent over luncheon tables trying to devise methods for reminding Americans of the freedoms they enjoy. Plans have been presented, and pigeon-holed. Idea-tusslers have gathered evenings.

But, so far, nothing official has come of all the worrying.

There was always the other side of the question to consider. Government officials were afraid that any move might look like propaganda. Opponents witheringly remarked that the planners were only adopting Hitler's methods. Non-interventionists feared that any program to dramatize democracy might lead to war fever.

Then the National League of Women Voters took the bull by the horns. It announced a campaign of its own which is the essence of simplicity. It's really just one slogan, "Win the battle of production." They're spreading that sentence far and wide—on window stickers, on billboards, on auto bumper cards, on letters, in laundry bundles.

War Talk Soft Pedaled.

THE League argues: "We're not in the war. So forget that sort of talk. But we are the arsenal for the democracies, so speed up production." They don't give specific advice, like "save gasoline," or "give aluminum." They just insist on speed.

The reaction has been quite spontaneous. Governors have paraded willingly to microphones to start off the state campaigns. Factory owners have bought the League's fliers to hand out among employes. Cities have donated billboards for the slogan, done up in red-white-and-blue paint. As an amusing climax, a large advertising concern has written to ask the women the secret of their success!

Their key flier says, "Win America's battle of production. More planes, more tanks, more guns, more goods — FASTER. More getting-together, more sacrifices, more taxes and more work—NOW, to keep free peoples FREE."

Covering the Ground.

TEXAS women are putting the slogans on match folders. Missouri women are recording production speeches and sending the records out to farm communities. League members on motor trips are dumping handbills in the lobbies of summer hotels. They have invaded labor meetings. Rotary conventions, youth meetings.

In Mexico, Mo., a League wife has induced her aviator husband to trail the slogan from his plane. In dozens of cities League members are giving five-minute talks at neighborhood movies. Morning commuters are handed the printed slogan in their suburban stations. Business houses are putting it in the monthly bills.

But the woman who seems to hold the laurels at this point is a New Haven, Conn., house-wife who is tied down to her home. So she campaigns by talking to tradesmen who ring her bell. She really cornered the laundry man. He must have troubles of his own, but he's carrying her pamphlets with him on his rounds.

A Farmer's Diary

Contrast

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

GREAT Uncle Malachi used to tell about two men whose ideas of farming contrasted sharply. The first one had 50 acres of limestone land, a woodlot that he pastured, a young gray team, cattle, hogs and a faithful shepherd dog. His buildings were in fine repair and his good wife and four small children enjoyed all the conveniences that could be purchased reasonably.

"I'm land poor," he told Uncle Malachi one day. "I have 50 acres, and it's too much to use as I'd like to. Our garden's only a little patch, not one tenth of an acre, but it yields more for its size than any part of the farm. The soil is always moist and loose and filled with holes, like good bread. A short row of potatoes produced twice as much there, as the same distance in our best field. I told my wife, when we dug 'em out, so large and crisp and new, we're doin' twice the work out in the fields we need to. Why, if I'd farm 25 acres as we do that garden, we'd get more than we do from the whole 50 now! I could have as much stock and more time to care of it. A good crop does something to a fellow that makes him proud. A half of one always makes me ashamed of myself. I'm gettin' mighty tired of bein' just half what I'd like to be."

The other neighbor had 80 acres and four children in school. His cattle and hogs never had enough to eat. His fields were covered with stone that he never had time to pick and haul onto the roads. Weeds grew along his fences and the seeds blew over his cultivated land. His two grey teams were gaunt and worn after every summer's work.

One night he and his wife came to Uncle Malachi's with great news. They had inherited a thousand dollars from an aunt. That would be just enough to pay off the mortgage—but he also confided that a little 40 acre farm adjoining them could be bought for that same sum, and they'd almost decided to buy it.

"And let the mortgage stand?" Uncle Malachi asked.

"Why yes—that farm is cheap at that. Don't you think it's a good deal? What would you do?"

Uncle Malachi shook his head in a thoughtful way he had, before he answered. Then he laid a friendly hand on his visitor's knee and said, "I'd try to farm the land I had now and make it raise more—and I'd pay the mortgage. Use what you have with all your mind and strength, and you'll be better off than to buy the farm.

The neighbor stood up and observed rather shortly that they'd have to go. He seemed insulted.

Uncle Malachi used to add that the man bought the farm, lost everything he had within ten years time, and then moved away.

The other neighbor lived only one year less than Uncle Malachi, who died at 93, and his farm was for years the show place and pride of the little valley.

MARY LOUISE MARSH MARRIED SUNDAY TO HARRY S. MYERS

GALION — Given in marriage by her father, R. W. Marsh of Galion, Mary Louise Marsh exchanged vows with Harry S. Myers Sunday morning at the parsonage of First Presbyterian church.

One of Galion's most popular bride-elects of the season, Miss Marsh wore a lovely bridal gown of white sheer crepe Romaine. The six-gored skirt was floor length, while the blouse was trimmed with tiny covered buttons to the waist in front, a small collar finished the neckline, and the sleeves were full blown. The finger-tip length veil was caught to a white velvet Juliet cap decorated with a spiral of seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white pompons and Johanna Hill roses from which fell a shower of white satin ribbon.

In the presence of members of the immediate families, the single ring service was read by Rev. William A. Martin.

The day also marked the first weding anniversary of the couple's attendants Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Deibig of Galion.

Mrs. Deibig, the former Frances Unckrich, was attired in a rose sheer crepe fashioned like the bridal gown. She wore two pink Japanese lillies in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of white and pink pompons, briarcliff roses, and blue delphinium with matching shower ribbons.

When the wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony at Hotel Talbott, covers were laid for 16 guests. The bridal table in the private dining room was centered with a wedding cake. Smilax was placed around the cake and the length of the table. Pink and white roses, and white tapers also were used on the table.

The couple left later in the day for Sewickley, Pa., where they will make their home. Until Sept. 15, they will live at Elmhurst Inn on the Ohio River boulevard. After that they will be at home at 539 Centennial avenue, Sewickley.

For traveling, Mrs. Myers wore a beige dress with redingote of red cent shade. Accessories matched the redingote. Her outfit was completed with a gardenia corsage.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Nova Marsh wore an ensemble of navy blue with matching accessories. Mrs. H. W. Wolfelt, mother of the bridegroom, wore a rose print with black accessories. Both mothers wore gardenia corsages.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from Galion High school in 1936. In 1938 the former Miss Marsh was graduated from Office Training School, Columbus. She resigned recently as cost clerk at the Central Ohio Steel Products company. She is the daughter of Mrs. Nova Marsh and R. W. Marsh, both of Galion.

Mr. Myers, son of Mrs. H. W. Wolfelt attended Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, for two years, was graduated last spring from Ohio Northern university, Ada, where he majored in civil engineering. During his senior year he was vice president of Nu Theta Kappa, national honorary engineering fraternity. He is employed as a draftsman by the American Bridge company at Ambridge, Pa.

THEATERS

Hilarious Farce.

"Charley's Aunt" is a gay old girl as portrayed by Jack Benny in his current vehicle by the same name showing at the Ohio. The Brandon Thomas farce that has been convulsing theater audiences for close to 50 years, gives the screen's popular comedian a chance to masquerade in woman's clothing as he carries out the ruse of a couple of college students. Kay Francis puts a crimp in the proceedings when she appears on the scene as the real aunt. Others in the cast include James Ellison, Reginald Owen, Laird Cregar and Arleen Whelan.

Dynamic Story.

Filmland's dynamic trio, Marlene Dietrich, George Raft and Edward G. Robinson furnish some thrilling moments in "Manpower," at the Madison. Miss Dietrich plays the cold and calculating hostess in a clip joint who meets up with Robinson and Raft, a couple of robust Pacafic coast linemen. They are all pals until Robinson tries to set the girl on a straight path. The she decides she has had enough love-in-a-cottage and strikes out for the bright lights. Eve Arden and Barton MacLane are in the cast. "Charlie Chan in Rio," is the second attraction.

Spanish Spectacle.

Authentic atmosphere for the bull fight pictured in "Blood and Sand," the spectacular technicolor production showing at the Ritz, was provided by 30,000 Mexicans who were invited to participate in the picture by Rouben Mamoulian, director. Mamoulian took his cue from the mob after asking the assembled thousands to cheer when they were pleased and boo when they were not. Tyrone Power, as the matador, has the more dynamic role of his career as a hero of the arena who is torn between love for his wife, Linda Darnell, and a temptress, enacted by Rita Hayworth. "Bad Man of Deadwood" is the companion picture.

Lavish Production.

The romantic story of a simple girl who rose from a maid servant to a power in the Neopolitan court is set forth on a magnificent scale in "that Hamilton Woman," showing at the Park. Based on the historical incident involving Lady Hamilton and Lord Nelson the picture was filmed with all the opulence that Alexander Korda, director, could muster. Among the reproductions are the British Embassy at Naples and the luxurious furnishings with which Emma Hamilton surrounded herself. Frankie Darro in "The Gang's All Here," is the second film.

Mystery Thriller.

A handsome detective with a penchant for flirting with pretty girls tracks down a band of international criminals in "Sky Murder," showing at the Majestic. Walter Pidgeon plays the role of Nick Carter, detective, and Joyce Compton enacts the feminine sleuth who helps him get his man. Karen Verne, Donald Meek and Tom Conway are featured. "City For Conquest" is the second picture.

CHAPTER XXV

In the frame of mind he was in Drusilla was the last person in the world Hill wanted to see. He could not have hid his annoyance if he had tried.

"Well, Dru," he said grimly, "this is a surprise. Why didn't you telephone before you come bursting into a man's apartment at 11 o'clock at night?"

A flicker of anger lit her heavily beaded eyes. But she smiled and said in what she fancied was her most luring contralto.

"Darling, don't be an old bear Aren't you going to ask me in? We can't talk here on the doorstep."

Hill stepped aside:

"Well, come in," he said rudely. "Now that you're here."

Dru entered, dropping her mink wrap over the back of a chair and taking off her little flowered hat. Then she held out her arms:

"Aren't you going to kiss me, sweet?"

Reluctantly Hill went through the motions of kissing her. Dru laughed lightly, but not very convincingly.

"My that was a fine exhibition of passion! I believe I did wake you, darling."

She settled herself on the divan. Hill went back to his chair at the desk.

"I've been working," he said shortly. "I've a lot to do tonight before I can go to sleep."

"Working?" Dru raised her brows. "Tell me about it."

Hill shrugged: "There isn't much to tell. I'm just beginning a job I should have started years ago, before I threw all my money away and lost my wife and child."

* * *

Dru moved to the edge of the divan, clutching her cigaret. Was what she had feared more than she had ever feared anything in her life coming? Was she to lose Hill because of what had happened to April? It was the first time he had ever shown any regret over his divorce. Dru struggled for composure.

"What do you mean—a job you should have started years ago?" she asked.

"I'm going to work," Hill said simply. "To support April and Kenny. I'm organizing a golf school, that will open on the Stiller estate at Great Neck. That's why I've been so busy lately."

"At least," Dru struggled to smile, "you haven't been neglecting me for anything serious. Not if you've only been working."

"I'm serious for the first time in my life." Hill looked at her coolly. "I'm afraid you don't understand. I said I was going to work to support my family, as I should have done years ago. It will be necessary for me to devote all my time to the school. I shall have no time for parties."

"But," Dru swallowed, "you'll have time for me. I'll understand if we can't go to parties. That doesn't matter."

Hill dreaded going on. But he knew it was then or never. He had to make Dru understand he was through with her. He said stiffly:

"Dru are you going to make it harder for me by pretending you don't understand what I'm trying to tell you?"

She said, her scarlet lips narrowing, "Just what are you trying to tell me, Hill?"

He sighed: "If I must draw a diagram, Dru, I'm not going to have any time for you, either. This farce has got to stop. You know perfectly well you tricked me into a fake engagement when I was four sheets to the wind. You announced it to the papers entirely without my knowledge. I let it ride because I thought it was a good way to punish April for divorcing me. I thought she would try to stop me from marrying you if she thought it was serious But she fooled me. So I was left holding the bag Well, I'm not going to be a damn fool any longer."

By that time Drusilla Bayne was weak with rage. To have Kent Hillyer sit there so coolly telling her he had only been using her to make his former wife jealous, was the most humiliating experience she had ever had

Her brain worked quickly, trying to figure out the best way to handle the situation. If only she could keep a cool head, she might be able to make Hill change his mind It couldn't be possible he did not find her desirable The wealthiest and most famous men in the world had showered money and jewels at her little feet. There must be some way she could get him back. She wouldn't admit, even to herself that she had never possessed Kent Hillyer for one little minute.

There was strained silence as Hill sat drumming on the desk, waiting for Drusilla to answer. He said finally, shortly:

"Well, have I made myself clear, Dru?"

The "Blond Bombshell" decided to appeal to his sympathy. She covered her face with her hands and said in a small voice:

"Wait, darling G—give me a little time to pull myself together and we'll talk about it. I—I think I'm going to cry. Oh, Hill!"

Dru began to sob softly Hill watched for a moment, impatiently, then he tried to make light of it:

"Pull yourself together Dru. You're not the weeping type. I must say I never expected to see you shedding tears over one man, when all you have to do is lift a little finger and a regiment will come running to take his place Where's your sense of humor?"

Dru laid her head over a pillow still sobbing brokenly:

"But I don't want a regiment, Hill I just want you. I'll never want anybody else Oh, Hill! I'll die if you don't love me! I'll die!"

Hill sighed impatiently: "I doubt that You've known all along I didn't love you, Dru. I've never told you I did. I haven't even intimated I had any affection for you. Why I haven't even made love to you. We've had fun going to theaters and parties and making the rounds but that's all there has been to it Now don't try to sell me the idea I've misled you as to my feelings."

Dru stiffened, her rage getting the best of her. She raised her head angrily:

"You certainly did mislead me! You've made a fool of me in front of all my friends. They all think we're going to be married. You've led them all to believe it. Now I'll just die with humiliation."

* * *

Hill lit a cigaret, still keeping cool. "If they think we're going to be married it's because you told them so. God knows I never did."

"You haven't denied it!" Dru tossed her head, wiping her eyes furiously. "Can you name one person you denied it to?"

"That was hardly a gentleman's job under the circumstances," Hill suggested. "The lady usually officially breaks an engagement. I'm perfectly willing for you to give out a story to the newspapers saying you have thrown me over. You may tell the world anything you like, Dru. It doesn't matter to me. Just get it over with, that's all!"

Dru dropped all her pretense of injured innocence. She stood up, gritting her teeth with rage.

"You—you cad!" her voice rose. "You—conceited cad! You can't make a fool out of me!"

"I haven't tried to." Hill was beginning to get nervous as the storm signals burst forth from the blazingly angry girl. I've tried to be very fair about this whole thing. Now it's up to you to be reasonable and see my viewpoint. You've been engaged often before to men you had no intention of marrying Just for publicity. Why not laugh it off that way. Tell everybody it was only a publicity stunt."

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"WE ARE on the track now," I said with mounting excitement. "Am I right in thinking these sheets of flimsy contain other code sentences?"

"They have everything in them but the kitchen stove, and I wouldn't be sure the stove lids aren't in there somewhere," she said. "You see, Marion was so active a youngster, with such a vivid imagination, that I planned out a code which would get her out of all sorts of imaginary troubles.

"She reveled in imagining all sorts of adventures," Mary went on. "Sometimes she was the captive of a savage Indian tribe, vintage 1800 or thereabouts; again she was in the hold of a pirate ship, and another time she was kidnaped for ransom by bandits. And what a time I had devising slogans which would reveal to her gallant rescuers where she was, when she sent out code clues to them!"

I smoothed out the flimsy sheets which she had taken from the cleverly concealed pocket in the black note-book, and began to study their contents slowly and carefully. I was looking for the cliches I had found in Marion's letter to Ronald.

"I might as well get it over with," the code said, "means 'I do not know where they are taking me.'"

I looked up at Mary, bending eagerly over me, her eyes on the flimsy sheets in my hands.

"Please sit down opposite me," I said, a bit imperiously, I am afraid. "Take your pencil and paper and write down these things as I dictate them."

Marion's Memory.

I paid tribute to Marion's power of memory as I went through the long list of sentences with their code meanings. She had remembered enough of them to give us some valuable information. When we had finished, besides the ones Mary had pointed out, I had a long list:

"They will send me back when they have found out what they want to know."

"Look after my pal."

"Do not let him leave where he is."

"He is in danger."

"Do not let him know I wrote this."

"Trail the man who comes to see him."

Finally, when I had exhausted the possibilities of the list, I took it from Mary's hand and scanned it carefully.

"Those about 'my pal,' don't make sense," Mary said. "'Trail the man who comes to see him,'" she went on. "Does she mean Ronald?"

"Think a second!" I adjured her.

"Oh, what a goon I am!" she exclaimed ruefully. "In the code, 'pal' was always masculine, and there were no feminine pronouns referring to Marion's mythical comrade.

"You see, in that stage of Marion's mental development, anything feminine was anathema. She always identified herself with masculine parts. She would rescue a girl, only if that was necessary to the dramas she played with herself and me."

She stopped and I prodded her again, because I wanted her to proffer the solution herself.

"And?" I said.

"Of course she means Carolyn by 'pal,'" she said. "And, as she had no way of indicating femininity in the code, she had to trust to our ingenuity to interpret what she did write."

"That is the solution, I am sure," I said. "And this will be of great help to my father. If only she had had some inkling of where she was going!"

Mary stretched her hand across the table to me.

"Please let me see those again?" she said, and I put the flimsy sheets of paper into her hand.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY

Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO BIG DIFFERENCES

THERE ARE, of course, many points of difference between the bridge played by most pretty fair players and that of the world's greatest experts. But the largest number of points on the score sheet gets swung by two main factors. The star thinks more in terms of making his scores on the defense against the opponents' contracts, especially doubled ones. At the same time he protects himself more against giving opportunities for such scores by his opponents playing against his contracts. To express it more simply, he is more ready to double their bids, especially weak overcalls at a low level, and is less addicted to making weak overcalls which they can double profitably.

	♠ 7 4 ♥ A J 10 8 4 ♦ K 5 ♣ 8 7 5 4
♠ 6 3 ♥ Q 9 5 3 2 ♦ 9 8 ♣ A 9 3 2	N. W. E. S.	♠ K Q 9 5 2 ♥ K 7 ♦ 10 6 3 2 ♣ Q 6
	♠ A J 10 8 ♥ 6 ♦ A Q J 7 4 ♣ K J 10

(Dealer. East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥
1 ♠	Dbl

This is a very mild and therefore very normal example of the point. The contract was set three tricks, giving North-South a score of 500. A No Trump game, with probably a couple of extra tricks worth, all told, about 460 points—would have been the result if South had bid 2-No Trumps over the 1-Spade instead of doubling. That may not be a great gain, but it is a gain nevertheless

With both sides vulnerable. South also would have doubled. Then the gain would have been a set of 800 points as against a game worth 660 with its two extra tricks, or a profit of 140 points.

If East had been vulnerable and South not, the gain would have been the difference between 800 points for the set and 460 for the game, or 340 points.

In only one vulnerability situation should South bid 2-No Trumps in that situation—if his side was vulnerable and the opponents not. Then the game and overtricks would be worth 660 and the set only 500. Also only in that situation, and not surely then, would one of the game's leaders have stuck in that weak spade bid made by East.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ J 3 2 ♥ A K 6 3 ♦ K 8 4 ♣ 9 5 3

	♠ A K Q ♥ 7 5 2 ♦ Q 10 7 6 3 2 ♣ J

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

If West bids 1-Heart here, East 2-Clubs, South 2-Diamonds and North 3-Diamonds, how can the defenders find the way to beat the contract?

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, September 9.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A DAY of intensity and high tempo, with all the forces and faculties subject to pressure and stram, according to interesting lunar and mutual aspects of major planets. Under the urge of such fiery and forceful vibrations there is danger of running riot or pushing matters to extremes, through over-zeal, enthusiasm and audacity, when a more temperate and restrained program would prove more productive. New projects may be successfully launched with proper planning and direction, especially where the public interest is at issue. Impetuosity and excesses are hazardous to intimate relations as well as business.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of excellent progress, with growth in large enterprises and new projects, if they will apply their splendid energy, inventive and creative faculties with moderation and restraint rather than excessive zeal. High-pressure methods, well directed and planned, should win outstanding success, with some sort of public support. Apply bold strokes to large propositions, but avoid recklessness and headstrong indulgence.

A child born on this day may have a forceful and vigorous nature, with great energy and initiative for big things in life. But these might be defeated by going to extremes.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Jim Schlemmer, veteran sports editor of the Akron Beacon Journal was right in his element and all his glory yesterday as he played host in his brand new Akron Rubber Bowl press box to a lot of not so brand new sports scriveners from all over northern Ohio.

Jim is a guy who has very strong feelings about what a press box should be, and about what kind of accommodations should be given the gentlemen of the working press, and on more than one occasion he has written a scathing column about the lack of those accommodations as he has encountered them in various stadia of the country.

* * *

So when the new Rubber Bowl was built, Jim saw to it that just about the finest press box in the country was included in the plans, and he was on hand yesterday at the Cleveland Rams - Pittsburgh Steelers National professional league football game to see to it that the accommodations which he had always desired and din't get were provided the visiting scribes on this occasion.

* * *

And I came home knowing that I'm going to wince every time I step into the press shack on top of the Mansfield High football stands, and that I'll spend many an hour this fall apologizing to visiting scribes for all the accommodations they won't find there.

Last spring I saw just about everyone in the Mansfield school system who could possibly be concerned about the press box situation. The best I could get out of any of them was the advice to go see somebody else. Nobody wanted anything to do with it.

What's the matter with the Mansfield press box? It's cramped, and uncomfortable, and you can't see out of it. You can see a football game much better sitting out in the stands, and that, I think, is where I'll sit this fall if the weather is right.

There's no fun in covering a football game when you have to yell out to people in the stands to find out who made that run, and what is the score.

This is no joke. Last year when we wanted to see the games we had to stick our heads out the door, and then stand up to see over the heads of the fans standing around the press coop.

* * *

If from the stands you hear a roar,
It's the press box asking: What's the score?"

New Jersey Boat Wins At Sandusky

SANDUSKY —(AP)— Phillip A. Somervell, fleet secretary of the Red Dragon Canoe club, Edgewater Park, N. J., is the first skipper to become a two-time winner of the Comet Class Yacht Racing association's annual regatta, held on fresh water this year for the first time.

With George Rhawn as crew, Somervell successfully defended his title on Sandusky Bay.

Ohio's best entry took fourth place. Garrett Goodbody and John Tiedtke, in the Wimpy, from the Maumee river fleet, Toledo, had 94 points.

* * *

F. and R. Koblenzer, of the Cleveland Yacht club, scored 73 points in their, Nose Dive, for tenth place.

* * *

Lorain's Three Chips, with Roger Doan and Tom Humpherville aboard, with 13th with 65. Another Lorain boat, the Restless, carrying Bob Kromer and Bob Kelleher, got 49 points and 18th place.

Dodgers Smear Terrymen

Slug Giants Twice, Gain 3-Game League Lead.

(By Associated Press)

Around and about in the National league today, the boys and girls were wondering if maybe the Brooklyn Dodgers weren't suffering from hallucinations.

"Who," they were asking, "do those Brooklyns think they are—the Yankees?"

What was once a sizzling pennant race has now become actually about as close as Bill Terry and the baseball writers.

* * *

"Dem bums" are bouncing along on a three-game lead, and they'll hold it all day today, for the whole outfit, National and American leagues both, take a holiday. Tomorrow, the Brooklyns head west, make a brief stop in Chicago, and then hold their absolute-last "crooshal" series with the second-place Cardinals Thursday, Friday and Saturday in St. Louis.

* * *

And if the Dodgers reach St. Louis with their three-game edge still in one piece, or a reasonable facsimile thereof, the hustle guys from the Mississippi must sweep the three-game set to even keep hoping they'll hit the jackpot.

Cincinnati grabbed Saturday's single contest with the Cards and split yesterday's twin bill by picking up a 5-2 decision in the nightcap after the Gas Housers won the opener, 11-7.

* * *

While this was going on the Dodgers were sweeping a three-game set with the Giants, climaxing the job with yesterday's impressive doubleheader win.

In the opener, the Brooks just up and knocked the ears off their ancient enemies, 13-1, with Kirby Higbe tossing a six-hitter to become the National league's first 20-game pitching winner of the year.

The nightcap, however, was a horse from a different garage. The Terry Terriers whacked Whitey Wyatt for three runs in the seventh inning to take the lead. However, in the ninth, Ducky Medwick's single sent two tallies home to tie, and in the tenth Pete Reiser poked out a hit to push a run across for a 4-3 Brooklyn win.

The Yankees, who already have their American league championship stowed away, slapped the second-place Boston Red Sox, 8-5, yesterday to stretch their league-lead to 20½ games.

The St. Louis Browns exercised their jinx on the third-place Chicago White Sox again for a 3-1 win behind Denny Galehouse. Washington trounced the Athletics twice, 3-2 and 4-2.

* * *

Vallie Eaves served up a five-hitter and pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 3-1 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates and Casey Stengel's Boston Braves, the supposed hitless wonders, sprayed 35 hits to pretty nearly all sections of Boston to pound the pathetic Phillies twice, 17-6, and 10-1.

* * *

The Cleveland Indians, who open their last eastern tour in Philadelphia tomorrow, are so close to the edge of fourth place there's no comfort in it.

The Tigers made it three in a row out of four at Detroit yesterday, with a 4 to 1 victory, and climbed to within a half game of the Indians.

It was "Tommy Bridges Day" in Briggs stadium and Tommy lived up to the occasion by carefully pitching six-hit ball while Bruce Campbell was driving in all the Bengals' runs. Chubby Dean limited the Tigers to the same number of hits, but he was wild and issued too many passes.

* * *

In the third inning Dean walked Barney McCosky, Rudy York and Pinky Higgins to fill the bases, and when Campbell doubled all three scored.

In the sixth Higgins doubled, and Campbell singled him home.

Idle today, the Indians engage the Athletics Tuesday and Wednesday, then move into Washington for four games.

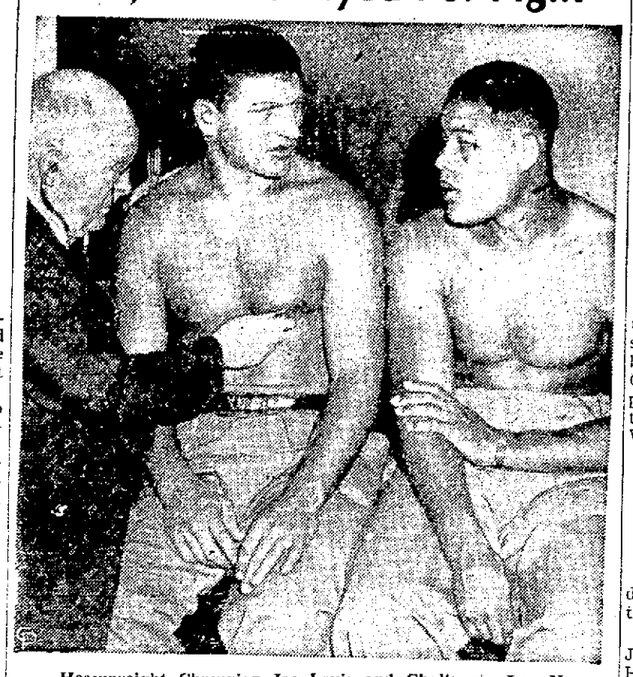
Wickey Harkins, of Germantown, Pa., has hit eastern pugilistic headlines by handing Paulie Walker his first defeat in Paulie's home town, Trenton, N. J., in a half dozen years and by holding Ken Overlin, then middleweight champion, to a draw. Harkins is a rugged welter.

The records show that the National League pennant was won only once by the Phillies from Philadelphia and that the Kentucky Derby was won only once by a filly, Regret.

Louis, Nova Okayed For Fight



Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and Challenger Lou Nova both are physically fit for their fight in New York, Sept. 29, Dr. William Walker, physician for the New York state athletic commission, found when he examined them, above. The examinations and signing of the contracts for the bout took place in the commission's New York office.

Riggs Trims Hudson, Gains Forest Hills Honors

NEW YORK—(AP)—On no less an authority than the coach of the player he out-thought and humiliated in the final match for the national tennis championship yesterday, Bobby Riggs is the smartest tennis player who ever stayed up nights inventing new ways of confusing an opponent.

George Hudson, who has been coaching Frank Kovacs for eight years, made no effort to conceal his admiration for Riggs after the Little Guy had given Kovacs the undiluted works in the big match before 10,000 fans at Forest Hills. The scores were 5-7, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3.

"I'll swear," swore Hudson, "I've been playing and coaching tennis for 35 years and that Bobby is the smartest player I ever saw. He had no right in the world to lick Frank like that, but he did it."

Riggs, who captured the title in 1939 with what was then classified as an ordinary tennis game, lost it last year to Don McNeill and came back yesterday to win it again.

"You got to admire the Little Guy," Hudson pursued. "He lost that first set to Kovacs on its merits. But he realized when the next set started that Frank was pressing—trying to win it quick. So he sat back and began waiting for Frank to miss. He won 12 straight points, and from then on it was too bad."

The new women's champion is Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke, and it is about time. She trimmed Pauline Betz, of Los Angeles and Florida, in their final match, 7-5, 6-2. Mrs. Cooke has been co-holder of the national doubles crown on eight occasions.

Birds End On Sour Note

Columbus Loses Last Game, But Leads League.

(By Associated Press)

The Columbus Red Birds ended the American Association season on a sour note, but they'll be ready to return to serious play tomorrow night when the Shaughnessy playoff battles begin.

* * *

The Birds, having nailed down their fourth flag in nine years, entertain third-place Kansas City in the first of a four-out-of-seven series. Fourth place Minneapolis invades second-place Louisville in the other half of the playoffs.

* * *

The first three games of each series will be played in Columbus and Louisville. Then the teams move to Kansas City and Minneapolis to conclude the first half of the series. The two victors then meet in another series, four out of seven, for the right to engage the International league representative in the Junior World series.

Columbus looked like anything but the champion in the season's finale Sunday, bowing twice to Louisville by scores of 5 to 4 in both games.

Lou Klein, Redbird shortstop, collected four hits in seven tries to grab recognition as the batting champion, unofficial figures. Klein finished for an average of .371 with Lou Novikoff, Milwaukee outfielder, close behind him with an average of .3698.

* * *

Kansas City clinched its playoff spot by whipping St. Paul twice, 12 to 2 and 8 to 0. Minneapolis defeated the Brewers, 9 to 7, and then lost by 6 to 0.

Indianapolis downed Toledo, 5 to 1, in the opening tilt and the Hens took the nightcap, 10 to 5.

Predicts 5 Pro Football Teams

American League Prexy Says Only 5 To Play.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The American Professional Football league will operate this season even though there are only five teams within its ranks, President William L. Griffith of Columbus, O., announced today.

* * *

Three schedules have been drawn up by league officials—one for seven teams, one for six and another for five, he said. Griffith predicted that six clubs would start the season. He said these are New York, Buffalo, Boston, Cincinnati, Columbus, and Milwaukee.

* * *

A team from Philadelphia possibly will replace the Boston entry, Griffith said. The New York franchise, involved in a squabble between Douglas Hertz who operated the club last season and the league, was turned over to Jack McBride, 1940 manager of the team.

Women Take Golf Spot

Annual National Women's Championships Start.

THE COUNTRY CLUB, Brookline, Mass.—(INS)—Golf's national spotlight shifted to the feminine side today as 122 of the leading players in the country opened quest for the 45th annual national women's championship.

The entrants, streamlined by seven withdrawals, had as the general favorite auburn-haired Betty Jameson, 22-year-old miss from San Antonio, Texas, who was seeking her third consecutive national golf crown.

* * *

Every one a champion holding one title or another, the field included besides Miss Jameson three former winners of the national title. On the peak of her game was Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, of Greensboro, N. C., winner in 1937, who never canned a putt until after she was graduated from college and never took a lesson from a golf professional.

* * *

Veteran of them all is Miss Margaret Curtis, of Boston, who won the first of her three national crowns in 1907. When she teed off, Miss Curtis established a new mark for the women's tournament for it marked the 44th time she has competed in the nationals. The third former winner is Mrs. Glenna Collett Ware, of Philadelphia, six times winner between 1922 and 1935.

Hays won the title for 80-inch motors and Jones was runnerup. Jones took the championship for 45-inch motors and Hays was second. Third in the 45-inch division was Art Heck of Willard, O.

Billy Evans Has New Role

Recognize the gentleman at the right? That's right, it's Billy Evans, former major league umpire, former executive of the Cleveland Indians and former Boston Red Sox farm chief. Evans is playing a new role in sports this fall—that of general manager of the Cleveland Rams, professional football club. At the left is Dutch Clark, popular coach of the Rams. The picture was taken at Berea, O., where the Rams are in training.

Helen Still Gets Around

Former Champion Helen Jacobs of California, who has been seeded fifth in the tournament, is shown, forecourt, above, as she bested Dorothy May Bundy, of California, 6-3, 11-9, in the quarter-finals of the national tennis championships at Forest Hill, N. Y.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Pinch Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—Week's wash: Leo Durocher stuck himself into the Dodgers lineup Saturday and hinted that he'd play out the season if his legs held up. . . . He took himself out again in yesterday's first game after going three for ought while everybody else was hitting. . . . In a prominent spot on the bulletin board in the Yanks' clubhouse is a congratulatory wire from Babe Dahlgren, who was one of the "bums" who couldn't win last year. . . . Latest reports are that John Kimbrough may play with the Philadelphia Eagles this season if the club's negotiations with Douglas Hertz go through.

QUOTE, UNQUOTE

Joe Cronin: "It's a lazy man's job, that third base. All you do is stand there and wait for the drives. You can let 'em bounce off you anywhere and anytime and still have time to throw out the guy at first." . . . Now who wants to bet Joe will be a bench manager next season?

CLEANING THE CUFF

Army's football scouts report that Joe Muha of V. M. I. is a lot better player than his brother, who did right well with Carnegie Tech, and they're afraid he may wreck the Cadets in the second game of the season. . . . Hot tip (maybe): Phil Rizzuto played with a pennant winner every one of his four years in the Yankees' farm system but his clubs always were licked in the playoffs. . . . Well, the Yanks won the pennant his first year up. . . . The draft and the schedules aren't the only things bothering football coaches these days. Several eastern Pennsylvania colleges have had to cancel early-season games because of infantile paralysis in that region.

Rams Smear Pittsburgh

Butt Their Way In Pro Football Game.

AKRON—(U.P.)—Cleveland today had another team with high early season hopes for a championship.

* * *

The Cleveland Rams butted their way to a 17 to 14 victory over the rugged Pittsburgh Steelers in the opening game of the 1941 National Professional Football league race at Akron and Cleveland fans optimistically looked forward to a possible championship team — especially since the Cleveland Indians floundered on the baseball front.

* * *

Dante Magnani sparkled with his 93-yard runback of the opening kickoff for the first Ram touchdown. Tackle Chet Adams made it 10 to 0 for the Ohioans with a 40-yard field goal.

Pittsburgh roared back in the second quarter in the Akron Rubber Bowl and spurted ahead, 14 to 10, on touchdowns by Fullback Elmer Hackney and a 34-yard run by rookie Halfback Art Jones.

* * *

A 71-yard march in the second period produced the game-clinching points for the Rams. A pass by Parker Hall to End Paul McDonough scored the Rams' winning tally.

* * *

In exhibition games, the Green Bay Packers scored a 28-21 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles at Milwaukee and the Chicago Bears whipped the New York Giants, 14 to 8.

Mansfield Team Knocks Out 5-3 Win Yesterday.

Mansfield's All-Stars got next to the Plymouth Locomotives yesterday afternoon and knocked out a 5 to 3 victory on the New London recreation grounds.

The All-Stars did practically everything to the Plymouths during the game. Working the old hidden ball play, they tagged a man off third base and in the eighth inning with the bags loaded with winning runs Martin calmly proceeded to strike a batter out retiring the side.

Glover, shortstop, led the Mansfield hitters, collecting three bingles for four times at the plate. D. Nesbit led the Plymouths with the same number of hits.

AIRCRAFTS TIP MART BALANCE FOR RECOVERY

Dealings Moderately Active as Wall Street Expects Armament Step-Up.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Aircrafts provided the main wedge in a specialized stock market revovery shift today.

While rails and some other groups inclined to drag along in the rear ranks, gains of fractions to a point or so were shown for favorites near the second hour. Dealings were moderately active.

Belief Washington was preparing to step up its armament drive, brokers said, brought in bids for the aviators and other stocks which may benefit from heavier governmental spending.

Market analysts noted the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that, while the priority situation seemed to be clearing, at least a fortnight would be required to eliminate a number of wide-spread tangles.

Unbalanced deliveries, the review added, have caused accumulations of the metal by army and navy, and other consumers, while material was lacking for other defense purposes.

Is your child a NOSE PICKER?

It may be more than just a nasty habit! It may be a sign of worms. Yes, ugly, crawling roundworms inside your child! Other warning signs are fidgeting, "picky" appetite, crankiness, itching in certain parts.

Roundworms can cause real trouble! If you even suspect your child has them, get Jayne's Vermifuge right away! Jayne's is America's best known proprietary worm medicine. Scientifically tested and used by millions for over a century. It expels stubborn worms, yet acts very gently. If no worms are there, Jayne's acts merely as a mild laxative. Be sure you get Jayne's Vermifuge.

CLASS DAY PIPE

WATERVILLE, Me.—(U.P.)—The two-foot long, elaborately carved "Class Day Pipe" again has passed the rounds from senior to senior as the final ceremony of Colby college class day.

The custom dates back to Civil war days. Origin of the pipe is unknown, but the oldest class to have carved their numerals on it was that of 1862. Twice during the last 79 years the pipe has disappeared but after a few years' absence was found and again put into operation.

It's Too Bad We Don't Get Hungry for Vitamins, Too!

This family has just completed what appears to be a well-balanced and healthful meal—but it is lacking in "vitamins." Thousands of families today may eat well and satisfy their appetites—yet go hungry for many of the essential health elements which are lacking in modern diet. We call these elements "vitamins"—and science has given us many dependable products to supply us with them. Your doctor can tell you which products to use—we can supply them at lowest prices!

WHAT VITAMINS DO FOR US

A A deficiency in Vitamin A may lead to colds and infection. This vitamin aids the eye in adjusting from light to dark and is used in the cure of night blindness.

D Vitamin D has a sort of foreman's job in the body. It does not actually build bone structure, but if there is any calcium and phosphorous in the system, D will round it up and put it to work.

B Loss of appetite is often the first sign of Vitamin B deficiency. This vitamin is extremely important to infants and growing children. Nervous disorders, certain disorders of the heart and pellagra are also treated with Vitamin B.

G This is a factor of Vitamin B known as Riboflavin. Recent studies indicate that Riboflavin plays an important part in human vision.

C Vitamin C prevents and cures scurvy. If you have a habit of grabbing a sandwich and a cup of coffee rather than a balanced meal this might lead to scurvy.

E While its exact physiological function still remains unknown, we do know that E is necessary for reproduction. Apart from that, a great deal remains to be discovered about Vitamin E. Wheatgerm oil is the main source.
